

AWS Hollywood Character Generator

Description: If you want to preload your chat replay on a webinar it is best if you do it with attendees with differing individual characteristics. This comes in handy when you want to automate your webinar, and have comments prior to the first playing. As each playing occurs you will create a historical log of past comments. When you approve those comments, they will appear in future webinars at the exact same moment in time. Until you approve them, they will not appear to anyone except the individual that put them in. Here is a list of characters, so you can add comments in keeping with different characters. Think about each character below. Then add the comments you expect in keeping with that individual character:

Skeptical 45 year old:

Divorced female with two young children 40 years old:

Cynical 28 year old:

Single Father 35 year old:

Frustrated Pensioner from Oklahoma:

Know it all 24 year old from California:

Smart Alec 22 year old:

Educated Curt Professional 44 year old:

Retail clerk female single mother 28 years old: